The Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) has created changes in service provision to youth with disabilities, including in school and out of school youth. Cheri Thompson, Program Planning and Development Specialist at the NJ Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services (DVRS), will share how these changes have expanded DVRS services for high school students and youth with disabilities. Ms. Thompson will also address how the WIOA regulations may impact individuals working in a sheltered workshop (non-competitive setting). You will have the opportunity to ask Ms. Thompson questions. Also, Disability resource providers will be available to network following Ms. Thompson's presentation.

This informative workshop is FREE and open to the public. Pre-registration is required.
